DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of invention of Group I, claims 1-3 in the reply filed on 8 August 2007 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the recitation "generating plasma ... and containing the particulate material" is confusing as which recited subject containing the particulate material.

In claim 2, the phrase "or the like" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

In claim 3, the same is applied to claim 2. And the recitations "the surface", one of opposed electrodes" and "the other electrode" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Caren et al. (US 6,029,442) in light of Evans et al. (US 6,479,023 B1). Caren's invention is directed to a method and apparatus for using free radicals to reduce pollutants in the exhaust gases from the combustion of fuel. Caren discloses that the method comprises the steps of generating plasma in an exhaust gas from an internal combustion engine to produce highly oxidizing free radicals such as hydroxyl radicals (read on the recited $O(^1D)$), OH, hydroperoxyl radical (read on the recited per-hydroxide), HOO, and ozone, O_3 , by a corona discharge from water vapor and residual oxygen in the exhaust gases and oxidizing the pollutants in the exhaust gases (col. 1, lines 13-25; paragraph crossing cols. 4 and 5; col. 7, line 53 through col. 8, line 24; and claim 40). Caren also discloses that the internal combustion engine is a gasoline engine or a diesel engine (col. 1, lines 29-53) and lean burn engine (col. 2, lines 63-65). Evans teaches the exhaust gases from a combustion engine containing particulate material (col. 1, lines 13-27). As such Caren in light of Evans discloses all the steps as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 2 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Because the prior art references do not disclose in a process for decreasing the content of a particulate material contained in an exhaust gas from a lean burn engine the recited value for the intensity E and the power density D_w in the plasma generating conditions in combination with the recited steps of generating and oxidizing as claimed in claim 2.

Conclusion

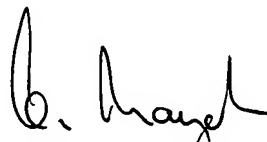

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Caren et al. (US 6,330,794 B1), a continuation of Caren '442, discloses in claim 68 that the engine is a lean burn engine.
